

One Day in a World War – D Day - 6 June 1944

Using the records of the Commonwealth War Graves Commission, was this really a 'world war'?

Task 1. Look at your information sheet and complete this summary table...

Areas of focus (eg Army, Canadian casualties etc)	Date	Total number of casualties

Task 2. Look at the information and write down the details for 3 people.

	Name	Age	Where were they from? Record place names	Where are they commemorated? (Country) This is often where they were involved in the fighting and where they died.

Task 3. Using an atlas, on the map below, colour the countries where people you have discovered came from.

Task 4. Using a different colour, colour the countries where they are commemorated today.

Task 5. Share your findings with others in the class and add more examples to your map.

Task 6. Use the story card to write down 3 things about the person on your card.

So, what can we learn from the records of the Commonwealth War Graves Commission about whether this was really a 'world war'?
